

Architect helps a good cause

WOULD you like to receive professional advice on how to improve your home and help raise thousands of euro for a worthy cause?

The Royal Institute of Architects of Ireland and the Simon Community has joined forces for the annual fundraising initiative "RIAI Simon Open Door".

As part of the initiative, Oliver Daly & Co will open their office at 6 Church Street, Castleisland, on Saturday, March 7, to give members of the public an hour's consultation with an architect in return for a €75 donation.

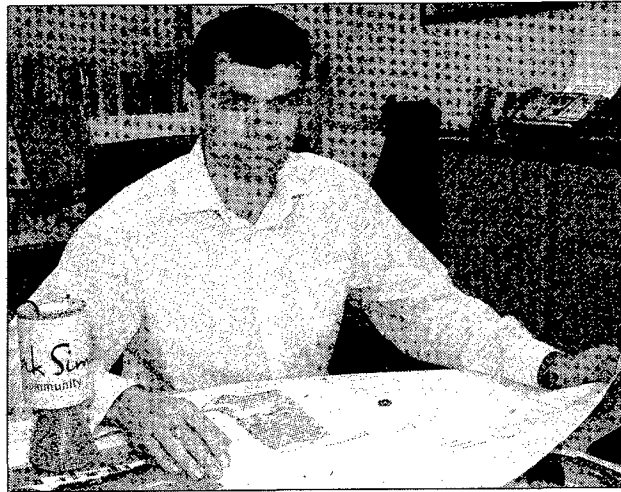

Oliver Daly said the Simon Open Door initiative is a great way for the public to discuss a project with a qualified architect. "You will be able to get professional design ideas which could maximise the potential of your project," Mr Daly said. "In one hour we can cover design ideas for an extension or a new build, potential costs and general planning advice. The consultation could open up innovative and exciting design possibilities or simply reassure people about their existing plans."

Mr Daly said that, in order for people to get the most out of the consultation, it is important they bring along as much information as possible, such as existing plans, photographs and Ordnance Survey maps if available.

"This event is a great way for the public to get professional help and advise while supporting a charity which deals with people who have no home to call their own," he said.
