

Kells architect opens his door for Simon charity

KELLS-BASED architect Paul O'Neill is taking part in this year's Simon Open Door Event, which is helping to fight homelessness in Ireland.

He will be opening his Beccive Street office on Saturday 7th May to anyone who would like a one hour consultation with a fully qualified architect, in return for a €50 donation to the Simon Community.

This is the seventh year that the Simon Communities of Ireland have partnered with the Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland.

Over the course of this partnership, almost €250,000 has been raised for the Simon Communities of Ireland.

Simon Open Door benefits both the Simon Communities of Ireland and members of the public.

Anyone can sign up and, in return for a €50 donation to the Simon Communities, receive an hour-long consultation with a certified RIAI architect who can give advice on a range of issues relating to a home.

Those interested can find out more about the event at www.simonopendoor.ie

Paul O'Neill (left), discussing a project with a client.